

Freedom Poems to celebrate National Poetry Day 2017

Freedom

By Haris Ahmed, 11W

Freedom is the light at the end of a tunnel,
It's the ability to speak without the filter in the funnel.

Freedom is a goal.
To some, it's a commodity,
However, most of all
It should be everyone's property.

Freedom is a vote,
It's an opinion on matters,
Is freedom for some or all?
I think it's the latter!

Freedom is a mission,
Some people undertake,
Can change a landscape's condition,
It can make or break.

Freedom is the ability to walk your own path,
Change lives, from twisted cries to a heartfelt laugh.

Freedom is a country, actions and speech,
Freedom is an ideal that all of us should teach,

Freedom is a promise that all of us should keep,
People tired of the world, but freedom doesn't sleep.

Freedom is in you,
Freedom is in me,

Freedom is something that all of us should see.

Freedom

By Laura Verdina, 7B

It's like a dog with no collar
Running free through the wind
Without a care or a bother.

It's like setting sail
Across the seven seas
With your hair dancing in the breeze.
To see the seven wonders of the world
As your worries slowly start to unfold.

In a world where rules surround you.
And regulations pry.
There is still a freedom waiting for you.
Just reach up to the sky.

Freedom

By Beatrice Paisag, 7X

Freedom is to let go of the bad
And continue with the good.
It is to be a strong person
And help others to understand.
Freedom is to make a decision
And to look back with no regret.
It is to build your life
The way you want
And not allow others to act as a block.
Freedom is showing who you really are.
And standing up for what you believe to be true.
Freedom is to dare....
 To try something new.
This is what freedom means to me.
I can fly with freedom.
